1. Background

1.1. The Centre for Innovative Service-Learning (CISL) was established in December 2017 to contribute to the provision of Best Student Experience in the Institutional Strategic Plan 2018-2028. To provide support to faculty members for the development and implementation of service-learning (SL) courses at HKBU, the Service-Learning Mini-Grants (SLMG) have been set up by the CISL to:

- a. encourage course instructors to integrate SL elements into the curriculum;
- b. enhance the teaching and learning of SL at HKBU; and
- c. promote inter-disciplinary collaboration on SL projects/courses.

2. Eligibility

2.1. Academic and teaching staff who design and deliver the following are eligible for the SLMG:

- a. UGC-funded credit-bearing courses with SL components (see definitions); or
- b. non-credit bearing service projects with a roadmap for conversion into UGC-funded credit-bearing courses.

GE Capstone courses are NOT eligible for the Grants as they are supported by other funding sources.

3. Selection Process and Criteria

3.1. Credit-bearing courses with SL components will be given higher priority than non-credit bearing service projects which will be converted into credit-bearing courses.

3.2. The assessment is based on the following criteria:

- a. Achieving Intended Learning Outcomes of Service-Learning
- b. Aligning the SL components with ILOs
- c. Integrating new ideas and SL elements in the curriculum or project
- d. Bringing educational benefits to students and impact to the service recipients and community
- e. Developing new pedagogical or teaching approaches in SL

3.3. Applications for the SLMG will be assessed and approved by a Review Panel formed under the Committee on Innovative Service-Learning (ISLC). Approval is subject to funding availability.

4. Use of Funding and Funding Amount

4.1 The SLMG can be used to support expenses related to project development and delivery. The funding provided for each successful application will vary according to the projected expenses. The maximum funding support is as follows:

CISL reserves the right to recover from the course instructor/project leader any funding which has been improperly spent.
- d. All allocated funding must normally be used within the project period. Any balance left unspent after the project period will be returned to the SLMG automatically.
- e. In cases involving unplanned expenditures, please consult CISL before making the purchase.

4.4 Subsidy for Students' Out-of-Pocket Expense

- a. The course instructor/project leader may request a direct subsidy of HK$300 for each student to cover out-of-pocket expenses directly related to the service-learning component of the course/project, e.g. project materials, transportation fees and gifts for service users etc. No receipts are required.
- b. Only students who have completed the SL component satisfactorily with recommendation from the course instructor/project leader will receive the subsidy at the end of the course/project. The course instructor/project leader or his/her department will be responsible for sending such instructions to the Finance Office.

4.5 Subsidy for Students' Outbound Expense (applicable to non-local trips only)

- a. The Student Outbound Expense Subsidy is designated to cover the costs of airfare, accommodation, and meals for students during non-local trips. In general, these expenses should be settled directly with a travel agency as a group payment or reimbursed to individuals upon the presentation of original receipts and invoices.

- b. While an initial subsidy amount is approved based on the estimated number of students expected to participate in the trip, the final subsidy disbursed will correspond to the actual number of students who travel. The subsidy is allocated on a per-student basis, adhering to the maximum per-student cap that varies depending on the project location, as outlined in Section 4.1 above.
- c. All procurement activities, including the purchase of services and the submission of reimbursement requests, must align with the policies and guidelines established by the Finance Office. The course instructor/project leader or his/her department will be responsible for submitting the purchasing or reimbursement requests/documents to the Finance Office for processing.
